PROCEDURE

1. Give one copy of the worksheet to each student in the class.
2. Explain that they are going to transform the statements on their worksheets into questions and then go around the class asking each other the questions.
3. When they find someone who answers yes to a question, they put that person's name next to the statement in the space provided. It is important to tell the students that they can only put the same name twice. This is to encourage them to speak to as many different partners as possible.
4. When one student has found a name for each of the statements on the worksheet, stop the activity.
5. As a follow-up, ask the students to say which statements were difficult to put a name to and which were easy.
