

Stephenson's Rocket one stop cil

Stephenson's Rocket is named after George and Robert Stephenson, the father-and-son team who built it. In 1829 the Rocket won a competition called the Rainhill Trials, to find the best locomotive to pull the trains on the Liverpool and Manchester railway.

Join the dots to complete the train. Then colour the picture.

