1 The effects of tourism on LEDCs

Reading, Speaking

- 1 Photocopy and cut up the sheet on the next page into cards, and give each group of students (maximum 4) a complete set. Each card shows either a positive or negative aspect of tourism in less developed countries. Tell the groups to read all the items of information and sort them firstly into positive and negative statements.
- 2 Then they should sort them to show which area of life the arguments belong to and place the cards in the appropriate squares on one of their group's sheets. The others in the group can copy the information onto their own sheets. Their answers might look like those in the answer key, but discuss any differences.
- 3 Ask any students who have been to an LEDC to talk to the class about it for a few minutes.
